

PHOENIX WATER WORKS

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS NOW IN PROGRESS.

About Six Miles of New Mains to Soon be in Use—Four Feet to be Added to the Stand Pipe.

The Phoenix Water Works Company has been making extensive improvements in the city within the last two months, and a review of the work accomplished might not be uninteresting to the public. With this view a REPUBLICAN reporter sought Mr. Robinson, the company's book keeper, and learned the following facts:

They have completed a six-inch main to the Insane Asylum, two and one-half miles of pipe, or 13,200 feet, and that institution is now using the city water. They have also laid a six-inch main the length of Center street, beginning two blocks south of the city limits and extending to Judge Ainsworth's place on the north. One-half mile of four-inch pipe has been laid on Van Buren street, about seven blocks on Jackson street, and an extension from the corner of Van Buren and Yavapai out the Black Canyon road beyond E. Kays' place, and out Papago north from Monroe.

In Murphy's addition a four-inch pipe extending from Washington street south to the railroad track is supplying the railroad tank. Also north from Washington street on California avenue about 600 feet. Another four-inch pipe starts from Jefferson and Yavapai, extends west two blocks to North's addition and north to Washington street, connecting with the old main.

There have been altogether probably six miles of pipe laid or in process of laying. The pipe is No. 14 gauge steel, double riveted, and enameled with waterproof tasteless enamel.

Each joint is about three feet in length and is shipped from the factory in twenty-four foot sections. One end of each section is slightly larger than the other end, not large enough, however, to admit connection without a scientific process; the end of the pipe is saturated with kerosene and gasoline and fired, the heat expands the steel and melting the enamel, after which the smaller end of the section intended to connect is driven in, lapping about three inches. When the steel ends it contracts, thus making a water-tight joint. This, to make assurance doubly sure, is covered by a band about six inches in length and an inch larger in circumference than the pipe and the space between the band and the pipe is filled in with hydraulic cement.

The pipe is furnished by J. D. Hooker & Co., of Los Angeles, and the work of laying here is under the supervision of Samuel Martin, sent by that firm.

The stand tower of the company will be raised forty feet as soon as the pipe arrives from St. Louis. It has been ordered several weeks, thus giving a pressure of 140 feet instead of 100 feet as at present.

The approximated cost of the improvements in hand is about $20,000, the pipe itself costing $12,000.
